

Cupid Gets Captain "Pink" of West Point.

Capt. Francis Clark Harrington.

Miss Eleanor Crozier Reburn.

Captain Francis Clark Harrington, instructor of mathematics at West Point, and during the latter part of the administration of President Taft military attaché at the White House, made up his mind long ago to remain a bachelor. His friends were convinced that his decision was unalterable. His association with mathematics, which is a notoriously cold science, confirmed them in this opinion. But Captain "Pink," the name by which he is known to the West Point cadets because he is so carefully and fastidiously groomed, has become a victim of cupid. He will wed Miss Eleanor Crozier Reburn, daughter of the late John E. Reburn, former mayor of Philadelphia and niece of General William Crozier, chief of ordinance of the United States army, June 30.

Captain Harrington was graduated from West Point in 1909. When the captain was transferred to West Point to take up his duties as an instructor, it was noticed that there was an increase in the bulk of mail that left the academy post office for Washington daily. And the increase was not credited to business of an official character. Miss Reburn was living in the capital city.

When the engagement became known, so many persons wrote or wired congratulations that it was found necessary to issue 4,000 invitations to the wedding. It will take place at Pequot Chapel, New London, Conn., and will be followed by a reception at Oak Lodge, the summer home of Miss Reburn's mother, just outside that city.

Why Cows Give More Milk Than They Used To.

A contributor to the current issue of Farm and Fireside explains as follows, why cows give more milk than they used to:

"Cattle used to be bred chiefly for work. Therefore the cows did not give much milk. Breeds improve the thing for which they are selected. In 1790 the work cows of Germany gave an average of a pint and a half a day. Interest in milk increased, and by 1800 the average yield was a quart and a half. Breeding went on milkward, and in 1810 the German cows averaged two quarts of milk each per day. In 1820 three in 1830 four—and there the gain stopped for thirty years. But in 1860 the production had increased to six quarts, and by 1870 to eight."

Butter From Siberia.
Farm and Fireside says:
"Samples of butter from Siberia have been imported into California. Few Americans are aware of the immensity of the dairy industry in that vast region stretching from Russia to the Pacific, and from the Chinese Empire to the Arctic Ocean—a domain as large as three Canadas. The Siberian butter was pronounced about second class. Some of it sold on the eastern markets last year for 24 cents a pound."

J. P. MORGAN SHOT AT COUNTRY HOME; NOT BADLY HURT

tion in the United States of a $100,000,000 British war loan.

At the court house, in Glencove, where Morgan's assailant was taken, he at first refused to give his name and address, but said "I'm a Christian gentleman." County officials stated that the man said he was of German descent and willing to sacrifice his life at any time to end the war; that he believed Morgan responsible for the war and for shipments of arms abroad, and he could stop the conflict if he wished. The man told the justice of peace he had no quarrel with Morgan personally, but felt that the time had come to end the war. He said he wanted to see Morgan and reason with him.

Later the man asserted that his name was F. Holt and said he was instructor in German at Cornell University.

At the court house the two suit cases that Holt brought with him were examined. One contained three sticks of dynamite, the other a large bottle of nitroglycerine, two boxes of cartridges for revolvers.

Morgan after being shot answered the first telephone calls himself.

Holt a Cornell Instructor.

Holt, in a statement gave his address, as Dallas, Texas, and Ithaca, N. Y. He said his motive was to try to force Morgan to use his influence to have an embargo placed on shipments of war munitions, and also said nobody inspired the plot against Morgan. He declared he was sorry he hurt Morgan, that he shot only to frighten him.

The blow Holt received from the coal hod caused his head to bleed profusely; he weakened about noon and appeared dazed. It is thought possibly his skull is fractured.

The Cornell faculty list gives Frank Holt, as instructor in German. Holt was to go to the University of Texas as professor next fall.

Holt was locked in the Glencove jail on the charge of assault.

Later advices say Morgan was shot through the groin. Physicians are optimistic for his recovery.

It was indeed a splendid showing for they were only organized since Christmas. A vocal duet by Misses Lydia and Nell Bewley was enjoyed. We were glad to welcome these college girls with us and when through school a place awaits them to work in the Y. W. A.

URIC ACID IN MEAT CLOGS THE KIDNEYS

Take a Glass of Salts if Your Back Hurts or Bladder Bothers.

If you must have your meat every day, eat it, but flush your kidneys with salts occasionally, says a noted authority who tells us that meat forms uric acid which almost paralyzes the kidneys in their efforts to expel it from the blood. They become sluggish and weaken, then you suffer with a dull misery in the kidney region, sharp pains in the back or sick headache, dizziness, your stomach sour, tongue coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine gets cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get sore and irritated, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night.

To neutralize these irritating acids, to cleanse the kidneys and flush off the body's urinous waste, get four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy here; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize the acids in urine, so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.
